

Part III - Disposition adjustments
(List only property included in Part II.)

For each item of property listed below, determine the difference between federal ACRS or MACRS and New York State depreciation used in the computation of federal and New York State taxable income in prior and current years.

If the ACRS deduction is larger than the New York State depreciation, subtract column D from column C and enter the result in column E.

If the New York State depreciation is larger than the federal deduction, subtract column C from column D and enter the result in column F.
